

Maine LAWYERS REVIEW

The Maine Lawyers Review, a local, independent publication covering Maine legal decisions and news, is seeking a part-time graphic designer to handle layout, formatting, and some proofreading of bi-weekly issues. This is a fully remote position, with strict, recurring, twice-monthly production deadlines.

Candidates should have experience with editing and layout software, ability to work independently, and strong time management skills, using own layout program and equipment.

Hourly wage commensurate with experience. Potential to grow position to include website / digital marketing duties.

Please send resume, salary requirements, and any available examples of your relevant work to:
info@mainelawyersreview.com.